Before assuming the above nets are profit to the individual the following should be considered. It is a rare occurrence when a family is located on or near a military installation, however most cannot take advantage of "fringe" benefits right fully thus, and which DO considers a major attraction to service life and a real part of income. For example the following monthly expenditures for my family would not be necessary if they were with me on an AFB.

(1) Current medical provisions do not cover any expenses less than $2.50 and hosp. ins only covers hospital expenses. Therefore cold shots, sore throats etc which might be treated cannot be handled in an OPC since none is available.

(2) Over a period of 11 years of home ownership my average monthly cost is $34. I currently pay $65 for standard housing - since it is all that
